MENT AS TALLACIOUS.

LONDON, 26th February. Speaking on Mr. Everett's motion, Sir Wil liam Vernon Harcourt said : The interests of this country as the greatest trading and monetary centre of the world were bound up in the soundness of her currency, and it carbt to be borne in mind that England conducted her trade upon relatively the smallest basis of any country. She did so because she had the largest credit. (Hear. lear.) Leaving international considerations for the national aspect of the question, he contended -that there aught to be a continuity of the currency policy which the nation had attained Though hoping little from an international monetary conference, inasmuch as a motion had been brought forward on common grounds de claring that evils existed which the government admitted, and as he had only been invited to co-operate with the powers on the subject he had decided not to oppose the resolution. (Cheers.)

The parliamentary bi-metallist committee, immediately after Sir William Harcourt had announced his acceptance of Mr. Everett's motion, telegraphed to the Berlin bi-metallist league German chancellor, the expediency of opening The league responded with a telegram con-gratulating the English bimetallists upon the success of Mr. Sverett's motion. The epinion prevails in the lobby that an international conference on the subject is assured:

The Daily News will say to-morrow that it deeply regrets the decision of the government to accept Mr. Everett's proposal in regard to the monetary question, believing that bi-motallism would be injurious, if not fatal, to British commercial supremacy. It cannot help fearing that the acquiescence of the ministers means a renewal of negotiations from which no usefu result can be expected and which may stimulate and encourage a failscions and peraicious move. ment. Nevertheless the News rejoices that Sir William Harcourt, made it plain that the cabinet adheres to the settled financial policy of the United Kingdom.

The Standard to-morrow will say: "We are absolutely bound not to swerve from the princi--ple of the gold standard, nor can we afford to give the smallest colour to the an prosition that we are likely to relax the wholesome rigidity of this rule. But as far as can be accomplished without the impairment of this principle it is our argent interest to promote steadiness in the comparative value of the two metals. Sir William Harcourt therefore wisely spoke in sympathy with the projected conference. Nothing is likely to result from it, but it would have been ungracious and impolitie to exclude any suggestion bearing the faintest glimmer of hope."

The Mahdi, in Mr. Laine's judgment, was a hero and a patriot; a man phasessing the wisdom almost of a Solomon with the military powers of a Saladin. In battle he knew no fear, and before howling and derisive mobs he preserved a caim and dignified bearing. He struggled to free his countrymen from the tyrants who held power, and he sought to give woman her rightful place as man's equal and haln mass.
